If you're familiar with the Guitar Hero/Rock Band series, Guitar Hero: World Tour is more of the same. This time there's lots more songs and some new features that were probably good in theory, but not well executed. That being said, this is still a great game and it's lots of fun. The downside is that for every good track, there's a lousy one you have to get through. They sometimes pick songs ...

Guitar Hero is supposed to be a fun game about playing guitar, and world tour was supposed to be about playing with friends. This game is a significant step down from GH3, in that there are more features I don't care about, too much customization for a game this simple, and when in career mode you have to play the entire setlist at once! That last one left me exhausted each time I played ...
